

SARA WELLER

MEDIUM BIO- 250 WORDS

Sara Weller CBE is one of the UK's most respected business leaders, bringing together board-level experience, national leadership and a powerful personal story to help organisations transform themselves, turning operational excellence into customer loyalty and greater inclusion into measurable business performance.

With a career spanning some of the UK's leading organisations, Sara has held high-profile executive and non-executive roles across the private and public sectors, including serving on 4 FTSE 100 boards, ministerial boards at the heart of Whitehall, and the boards of world-leading non-profit organisations.

She currently serves as a Non-Executive Director of BT Group plc, Chairs the Government-backed Money and Pensions Service and is Co-Founder of ActionAble, a national movement helping drive greater disability inclusion.

A respected voice on leadership, culture and inclusion, Sara combines strategic insight with practical experience, helping leaders understand how inclusive and customer-focused organisations achieve stronger performance, better decision-making and sustainable growth.

Drawing on her own lived experience of disability, Sara speaks with authenticity and credibility about resilience, leadership and creating environments where people can thrive. Her engaging and thought-provoking presentations challenge assumptions, inspire action and equip audiences with practical frameworks they can apply immediately.

Sara's keynote topics include customer-led culture change, disability inclusion, inclusive leadership, governance and culture, organisational transformation, and the role of boards in driving meaningful change.

Whether speaking to senior leadership teams, boards, employee resource groups or conference audiences, she is known for delivering sessions that are practical, impactful, engaging and that inspire action.
